Animals are amazing examples of wonders of creation. If you try to collect information about them it seems that you will see interesting facts. Animals have different bodies and ways of life. These different ways help them live better and easier in the nature.

There are many interesting things about animals. For example, the biggest whale in the world which lives in Persian Gulf is ۳۳ meters. Crabs are also sea animals. They will kill their wife and eat it. It helps them live longer and healthier. Crocodiles also live in water. They are usually ۵ meters and ۵۲۰ kilograms. They can swim easily and find food. They have teeth when they are young and they will have new teeth when they are older.

We have a lot of important information about animals on land. For example, rhino. This animal is one ton but it can run 30 km in one hour. Also, snakes can't hear and just 30% of them are dangerous. And some animals close their ears and sleep so they can have nicer sleep. Ostriches' eyes are bigger than their brain so these birds can find their ways easier.

(crab = خرچنگ) / (crocodile = تمساح) / (rhino = کرگدن) / (snake = مار) / (ostrich = شترمرغ)

Each Country has its own culture. It's useful and suitable for tourists to know the culture of their destination to avoid probable impoliteness. For example, in many countries to say hello or goodbye, people move their hands in the air but in Latin America moving your hand means "no". Or to say hello in Korea the host takes the guests' hand to respect them. And in China just women shake hands when they go to the party and it's not good for men to do so.

Another different behavior may be about wearing shoes. In Iran people don't wear shoes at home but in Italy is it impolite if you don't wear shoes. Or for example about being hospitable, while in Iran the guest should start the meal, in France the host should start the meal, while in Germany, you must know their rules. And don't forget that they don't like talking loudly. But in China you can talk as loudly as possible. And as a tourist in India, you have to respect animals and if you want to enjoy your trip you can wear their local clothes. They love to see you in their clothes. In India people are religious, so loud music may seem unusual in some especial times but if you want to enjoy loud music, you can take a trip to Italy. So, knowing more about different cultures will help you travel across the world more easily.
